START YOUR CAREER AS A SOLICITOR

Earn, Learn and Qualify

Morris Liberti Legal is looking for a Solicitor Apprentice to join the firm in Stowmarket. This is a paid, full-time role combined with a Level 7 Solicitor Apprenticeship. Over the course of the apprenticeship, you will work towards an LLB (Hons) in Law and Legal Practice and prepare for the Solicitors Qualifying Examination.

You will gain a university-level qualification, practical legal experience and a route to qualifying as a solicitor, without paying university tuition fees.

About us

Morris Liberti Legal is a growing law firm based in Stowmarket. The firm's work currently includes employment law, business finance and commercial matters, including company and share sales.

Morris Liberti Legal is a small, ambitious firm. That means the successful apprentice will not be hidden away doing repetitive administrative work. You will work closely with the firm's partners and qualified solicitors, contribute to real cases and gradually take responsibility for your own work and clients.

What you will do

Your responsibilities will develop as your knowledge and confidence grow. They will include:

- Drafting correspondence, legal documents and court and tribunal pleadings
- Undertaking legal research
- Preparing hearing bundles and managing case documents
- Supporting the administrative work needed to run cases properly
- Shadowing solicitors at hearings and client meetings
- Attending networking events and representing the firm
- Travelling to meet clients across the country, with expenses paid
- Progressing to client telephone calls and routine communications with other solicitors and opponents
- Managing elements of your own caseload under appropriate supervision

We expect you to get involved quickly. You will always have access to a qualified solicitor, and mistakes made honestly while learning will be corrected and used as an opportunity to improve.

The person we are looking for

We are not looking for someone who already knows everything. We are looking for someone with potential, personality and the confidence to use both.

You should be:

- Confident enough to speak up and contribute
- Comfortable showing what you can do without pretending to know what you do not
- Willing to ask questions and learn from the answers
- Able to accept constructive criticism and act on it
- Prepared to get stuck into unfamiliar work
- Unafraid of making an honest mistake while learning
- Organised, dependable and attentive to detail
- Comfortable communicating with clients and professionals
- Professional, but still able to show some personality
- Interested in developing a long-term legal career

You do not need to have decided which area of law you eventually want to specialise in.

We currently undertake employment, business finance and commercial work, and the firm's services are likely to expand as you progress.
